The documentary is about a family of monkeys living in ancient ruins set up in the jungles of Polonnaruwa in Sri Lanka. The film was released by Disney on April 17, 2015, the eighth nature documentary released by the label. [6] Plot Maya is a toque macaque born at the bottom of the tree of her home. Although she's a low-born, alpha male is from a company, rajah looks after her and considers Maya to be his property. One day, after escaping from a leopard attack, handsome male monkey Kumar catches Maya's ankle with just outside the territory of the troops. Because Maya is in the estrus, she and Kumar mate discreetly, but they are captured by Rajah, who knows he was snas. The cucumber haunts Rajah and his sub-alpha male guards. Five months later Maya gives birth to Kumar's son Kip. With Cucumber gone, Maya stays to raise, feed and care for her new Himself. When monsoon season arrives, Maya and Kip stay out in the rain, while senior births enjoy shelter in more desirable locations. Maya, however, is nothing if not scrappy. During the tighter food after the end-of-termite season, Maya takes The Statue and leads other low-born Macaques into the lily pond, where they feed and even dive to prosauation of nutritious lotus lily pods. The narrator points out that senior born nor lotus lily pond would not be recognised as a possible food source. When Maya and her siblings sink in and appear with soothing pods, they are stalked by a monitor lizard. Maya, Kip and a low-born clock in horror as one of its captures and eats a lizard monitor. Maya, with The Statue holding on, then finds a catalytic patch and begins to cut through the very nutritious caterpillars. When a trio of high-borns, known as Sisterhood, discover that Maya has not given them an advantage over this high-protein, high-value food source, the punishment from the Sorority is swift and severe. Maya mercilessly beats the trio, who then kidnap their son Kip and take him far from Maya. After a while, the sorority loses interest in the Statue and leaves it, leaving him vulnerable, scared and alone in the forest. Toque macaque mothers and their babies connect and learn to recognize each other's voices at birth. Maya is looking for hours of her lost child, often calling to him vaulted until they finally sit down again, which has led to a happy ending. The next day Maya leads Lowborn from their home to a neighboring town where they find plenty of food. They broke into a home full of food for a birthday party that will take place later in the afternoon. When people are skinned and invisible break-in makake, Maya and her cohorts are on birthday cake, bread, fruit and all other food. During the attack, Kip was still safe with another low-born man outside the home that his mother had invaded. The poor-born return to their home in the forest at Castle Rock, and fall asleep with an unknown feeling; whole stomach. When the sun rises the next day, Maya wakes up to what must initially look like a dream. He rubs his eyes and takes a double take when he sees Kip's Father Kumar, which preys just outside the territory of the troops. Having faced such a reassy exit with his last visit, Kumar is much more mud and cautious this time. He pays his debtors, he says, gently and gradually to the company. First, he befriends young macaroni, plays and wrestles with them. Next time, befriend Rajah's guard and moisturizes a lot of time to nurture and build social bonds. Kumar is showing signs of being a natural-born leader. His acceptance into the company is certain when he shares Jack-Fruit with Kumar during the season of Jack-Fruit Alpha, Rajah. Kumar has been given the opportunity to continue to cooperate With the company and prove your loyalty to Raja when an outside company, led by Lex, comes to insouth the castle rock and take it as its territory. Despite the good fight, Rajah, Kumar, Sestrinstvo, Maja, Kip and the entire troops lose the battle and are displaced and homeless. Now homeless and in very unkmom circumstances, it is the high-born who follow and wait their turn when Maya leads a homeless company back to the city, where we are facing abundant food, shelter and opportunity. Our company spends quite a while in the city, rebuilding its power, full of bellies and sleeping high on communal poo, but never loses the desire to return to their home, Castle Rock, and restore it as its own. After the return of power, the troops will return through the forest towards the castle rock. On this journey, however, Maya is the one who leads, with Kumar by her side and Kip close by. Sisterhood and former Alpha, Rajah, have been working on a healthy dose of humility over the past few days. As the group approaches Castle Rock, it is Kumar who is leading the attack, supported by Rajah and the crew. The home team manages to take back their home, chasing Lex and catching hunters far into the woods. But when the dust settles, we see that it's Maya, not the sisterhood that now sits high in the tree. As Kip cudded her breasts and Kumar by her side, Maya managed to make the eyes impossible; She changed her ranking in a hierarchy that was once pre-ified to live at the bottom of a tree, surviving only on the remains of those taller trees. In doing so, she secured a bright future for herself, her son Kip and her soon-to-be-born daughter. With Kumar now alpha from the troops, Rajah occupies the site of the Cucumber militia. He's still working The Sisterhood, but he's obviously lost his support and affection. The main characters of the Cast Of Monkey Kingdom toque macaque consist of lead woman Maya, her newborn son Kip, an alpha male from the Tropa of Raja, a trio of high-status women named Sisterhood, a grandfather, an older but once powerful man, and Kumar, a newcomer who wants entry into the ape tribe.
